General Information

The National Graduate Students in Economics Conference is aimed at students enrolled in graduate programs in any branch of Economics and related disciplines at Argentine or foreign universities, as well as those who have obtained their graduate degree after May 2016.

The objectives of this conference are: to contribute to the dissemination of research results, to encourage a profitable exchange of ideas, and to promote the creation of bonds between members of the new generation of economists.

Papers addressing any current research topic in Economics or related areas are welcome. The Academic Committee will evaluate submissions based on their quality and originality. Full articles will be published in an electronic version. The evaluation will be through a double-blind process by two members of the Academic Committee.

As in previous editions of the conference, the best papers will be awarded the Estudios Económicos Prize, consisting of the publication of the articles in the homonymous journal of the Department of Economics at Universidad Nacional del Sur. At the same time, the AAEP will reward the best papers with the acceptance and the exceptuación of registration to the Annual Meeting 2017. While to participate are accepted papers where one / s of the co-authors are not enrolled in a graduate degree program, only will be considered for the award those papers where all authors are enrolled in a graduate degree program.

Keynote speakers will include several prestigious Argentine researchers.

Formal aspects

Maximum length: 30 pages, in Spanish or English. It should be printed in pages size A4 (space 1½, one column, justified, letter type Arial 12, all margins 2.5 cm).

The first page must include: the title in the first line, centered and in capital letters; in the second line the name of the author, centered and in bold letters together with the institutional belonging in parentheses; immediately below, the abstract (250 words) and the corresponding thematic field(s), using the three-digits code of the JEL, for instance: JEL: D91.

Two (2) paper files must be sent: i) One anonymous excluding author or authors data, naming the file with the name of the author or authors followed by the word Anonymous (for example, Fernandez-Anonymous.pdf), which it will be considered by the Academic Committee, after name change; and ii) Other non-anonymous whose name be the name of the author or authors (e.g. Fernandez.pdf). Comments or explanatory notes must be included as footnotes, while references should be presented at the end of the paper.

Graphs and tables must be included in the text. Word 6.0 processor (or a later version) should be used.

Papers received after the established deadline and those which do not follow the required format will be returned to their authors. Articles are accepted in .pdf or similar formats committing the author to re-edit if necessary.

The papers submitted should be original, either yet unpublished or published after May 22, 2016.

At most one paper as an author and one as a co-author will be accepted, under the requirement that at least one of the authors be enrolled in a graduate degree program. Decisions of the Academic Committee will be communicated to the authors during April 2017.

The submission of a paper implies the acceptance of the decision of the Academic Committee regarding its inclusion in the Conference, which will be unappealable. Authors are expected to communicate copyright restrictions. The presentation of a paper implies granting authorization to Departamento de Economía and Instituto de Investigaciones Económicas y Sociales del Sur for its publication in the conference proceedings. Accepted articles will be published exactly as they were presented, no modifications will be accepted.
